Using one of the case studies, write a newspaper article which describes the human rights issues being faced. Try to explain what is happening and why human rights are not being met. You could also try and suggest what could be done to make the situation better.

A hand-drawn style template for a newspaper article. It features a large rectangular frame with a folded newspaper edge on the left. The frame is divided into sections: a top header area with three boxes, a large main body area on the left, and a two-column layout on the right. The main body area on the left has a large rectangular box at the top and several horizontal lines below it. The two-column layout on the right has multiple horizontal lines for text. The entire template is enclosed in a hand-drawn border.

A hand-drawn newspaper template. It features three vertical columns of horizontal lines for text. The left column has 15 lines, the middle column has 10 lines, and the right column has 15 lines. In the center of the page, between the columns, there is a large rectangular box, likely intended for an image or a graphic. The entire template is enclosed in a hand-drawn border that resembles a newspaper page, with a folded edge on the left side.
