

EnglishTuesday 15th December, 2020To be able to write a 3rd person Story.Success Criteria

I can write in the 3rd person.

I can use my plan to structure my writing.

I can make correctly punctuate my sentences and make my writing interesting.

So now that we have finished planning our stories, what is the next step in our writing process?

Before we can start though, we need to remind ourselves of our PAT because it is really important that we keep that in our minds whilst writing!

P- Purpose - To entertain

A- Audience - Year 6 and Mr Bell

T- Type - 3rd Person Story

Today we are going to be starting to write our stories, so which part of the Story mountain are we going to be starting with?

The opening and then it will be the build up.

When we are writing, do we just copy from our plans?

No, we don't! That's because our plans are just our ideas and when we are writing we need to make it entertaining and make sure it reads like a proper story, not just a collection of our ideas!

We are going to have a go at doing that all together now and then it will be your turn to have a go at writing.

To be able to write a 3rd person Story.

Success Criteria

I can write in the 3rd person.

I can use my plan to structure my writing.

I can make correctly punctuate my sentences and make my writing interesting.

What part of the story did we start writing yesterday?

So what parts are we going to be writing today?

I know I don't need to remind you of this, but I am going to anyway...

Should we just be copying off our plans when we are doing our writing?

Definitely not! They are just our ideas and we need to write a proper story that is entertaining and shows how amazing we are at writing!

So now we are going to be writing our Problem! This is the most entertaining and important part of the story!

Remember, we are writing it for Year 6 and Mr Bell so our work needs to be to the very best of our abilities! They have very high standards!

We are going to have a go at writing a great, entertaining problem together and then it'll be your turn.

Today we are going to be finishing our stories so that they are ready for Year 6 to read them!

What parts of the story have we wrote already?

What's next?

When you're writing remember to use everything you have available to you.

They include:

- the working wall
- your plans
- your books
- your partners (whispering)
- the adults
