

Galapagos Islands Animals

Charles Darwin conducted a lot of his studies on the Galapagos Islands.

This week, we are going to have a look at some of the wonderful creatures that inhabited the islands and make colourful drawings of them. Which will you choose to draw – a Marine Iguana, a Frigatebird, a Blue or Red Footed Booby, a Sally Lightfoot Crab or one of the many colourful fish?

Sketch your favourites, remembering to look carefully at the details, and if you have some colouring pencils you can colour them too!

Here is a video link showing how to draw different animal skin textures that you might want to watch first for a few tips -
