

PSHE and Citizenship

Living in the Wider World | Respecting Rights

Everybody's Different

Aim

- To show respect for the differences between people.

Success Criteria

- I can identify something special about myself.
- I can identify and celebrate some of the ways people can be different from each other.
- I can explain why we should treat all people with kindness and respect.
- I can discuss ways in which all people are the same.

The Big Questions

What does it mean to be different?

What are some of the ways that people can be different from each other?

How should we behave towards people who are different from us?

A Right to Be Me

All people have a right to be themselves. All people, no matter who they are or where they are in the world, have the same human rights.

This might mean being free to choose what they believe or how they dress. It might also mean being able to live happily how they were born without being treated unkindly.

A Right to Be Me

Think of one thing which makes you special and tell a partner. If you do not have a partner then just write it down.

Did you notice how different all of the things which make us special are?
Our differences make the world an exciting place to be.

Differences between People

Just as we are different in lots of ways in this class, people throughout the world are different from each other too.

Differences between People

This makes the world
an exciting place
to live!

Differences between People

How Are People Different?

Cut out the cards and give one set to each group.

In a group or on your own, look carefully at the picture cards you have been given. How the people on each card are different from each other.

Differences between People

People have different beliefs, live in different families, are different ages, come from different places, wear different clothes, have different abilities and interests, look different and do things in different ways.

All people have the right to be themselves

People can be different from each other for lots of different reasons.

What differences did you think of?

How Should We Behave Towards People Who Are Different from Us?

All people have the right to be treated with kindness and respect – no matter who they are or where they are from; whether they are similar to us or different from us

How Should We Behave Towards People Who Are Different from Us?

Why do you think this is?

No person is more or less important than another. Being kind and respectful to all people helps us to feel happy and safe.

Consolidating

Reflecting

Helpful Hints

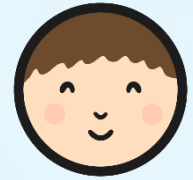

It is important to treat all people with kindness and respect and it is important that we are all treated with kindness and respect by others.

Help others to behave kindly towards all people – no matter who they are or where they are from.

Staying Safe

Using the Helpful Hints Activity Sheet, write a list of ways that others can show kindness and respect to all people.

How can we behave kindly and show respect to all people?

Helpful Hints

It is important to treat all people with kindness and respect and it is important that we are all treated with kindness and respect by others.

How can we help others to behave kindly towards all people? Write a list of helpful hints for others to follow.

Different but Similar

It is important that we all feel able to be ourselves and it is our right to be who we want to be.

In what ways are all people the same?

Although we are all wonderfully different, we also all have things in common.

We all have basic needs which need to be met for us to learn and grow healthily. We all need to feel safe and cared for to live happy and fulfilling lives – this is everyone's right

Different but Similar

We are going to finish with an activity that helps us remember the importance of showing kindness and respect to all people – no matter who they are or where they are from.

We can do our bit to make all people feel happy inside by being a rights-respecting class.

How did this make you feel?

The Big Questions

What does it mean to be different?

What are some of the ways that people can be different from each other?

How should we behave towards people who are different from us?

The Big Questions

What have you learnt today?

How will it help you
in your daily life?

